

SY MARY ANN

To whom it may concern

I have employed Mr. Gosselin from July 1st. 2002 to Dec. 10th, 2006 on behalf of Pro-Charter Ltd., an Antigua based Offshore company.

Mr. Gosselin was employed as captain.

I would have to screen the logbook to sum up all his hours he spend at sea. But I easily can confirm that he navigated S/Y Mary Ann from the Netherlands - where the yacht was commisioned - to Gibraltar, the Canary Islands, raced the ARC2002 in with charterguests to Antigua, visited Caribbean Sea befor moving on to Cologne, Panama, crossed over to Galapagos and further to the Marquesas (Fatu Hiva, Nuku Hiva), further to the Tuamotus (Fakarawa, Anse Amout, Rangiroa, Tahiti, Morea, Bora Bora, Nioe, Tonga (Vavau, Hapai Group, Tongatapu), Minerva Reef, Newsealand (Bay of Islands, Aukland (first major refit, which he supervised), and further south), back to the Austral Islands (Raivavae), Tahiti, visit to the Tuamotus with charter guests, Morea, Taha, Bora-Bora, Aitutaki, Rarotonga, Beverage Reef, Tonga (Vavau group), Fiji (including Yasawas), Vanuatu, Solomon Islands, PNG, Micronesia with extended time in Palau, returning to Australia via PNG for second refit, New Caledonia, Vanuatu (Tanna, Aniwa, Port Vila, further West to Banks Islands, PNG (Misima, Woodlark, Alotau, Trobriants), back to Palau, Philipine, Borneo, Singapore, Thailand (Similans) and back to Singapore, where Pro-Charter Ltd. (including Mary Ann) was sold in Dec. 2006.

All time Mr. Gosselin lived on board with neglectable absence for a few weeks vacation.

We had hired several First Mates (one at a time) which he selected, trained and supervised.

To me as the owner of Pro-Charter Ltd. he was always a reliable and honest skipper with excelent manuvering skills, a perfect navigator with a firm judgement about finding safe achorages and safe handling of the yacht (and crew) at sea. His ability to solve problems (incl. technical faliurs and strange administrations, customs and immigration, etc...) and to organize shore help when needed was simply amazing. His social skills to keep the mood up on board and to ensure the well feeling of every body was exceptional!

If you need more details please let me know.

With best regards
